TRIED TO ESCAPE THREE DEAD, MANY INJURED.

WORKHOUSE PRISONERS MAKE A BREAK FOR LIBERTY.

GUARD SMITH PUTS A BULLET INTO CHARLES HUGHES,

Hughes Was the Lender of the Revolt and an All-Around Tough and Crook-Injuries Will Prove Fatal-Outbreak Was Well Planned.

A wholesale delivery from the workhouse was only prevented yesterday afternoon by the bravery of the guards on duty, and as a result of the attempt Charles Hughes, a twelve months' prisoner and general allround tough man, now lies dying in the city hospital from the effects of a 44-caliber bullet fired into his body from the revolver of Guard George A. Smith.

The 114 prisoners in the workhouse had just finished their dinner in the dining hall under the supervision of Guard F. P. Robinson, and were being returned to their cells, marching in single file, when a score of them forced Robinson up against the wall, and Hughes was boosted over an eight-foot gate that separates the corridor from the guardroom. George Smith, an man, who is employed as teamster in the institution, but who is also obliged to do guard duty, was picketed just outside of this gate, and in the guardroom Captain Flinn and a number of visitors were standing. When Hughes began to mount the gate Smith shouted and ordered him to get down.

Guard Robinson, in the meantime, had freed himself from the rebellious prisoners long enough to selze a butcherknife that was used for cutting bread. Hughes was on the top of the gate and Robinson yelled on the top of the gate and Robinson yened to him:

"Hughes, you had better not try that game, or you may get hurt."

Robinson was trying desperately to force his way through the compact mass of howling prisoners to the gate, flourishing his knife in the air. Hughes steadled himself on top of the gate for a moment and seemed inclined to come back, but Brady and Lurke, his fellow conspirators, boosted him on over, saying:

"Go on, you miserable coward."

exciting hand to hand struggle took place, Hughes trying desperately to get possession of Smith's revolver. The old man fought valiantly and Hughes finally broke away and started for the open window of the guardroom beyond which was liberty. Captain Film, who was only armed with a pair of handcuffs intercepted him, and he changed his course toward the door to he changed his course toward the door to the left. Then it was that Smith fired. He had succeeded in getting his revolver out of his pocket and was awaiting a good opportunity to shoot. He took care-ful aim and the bullet struck Hughes in the left side, and the red blood gushed from the wound upon the floor of the

From.

Even this did not stop him, for he ran out into the street, down Nineteenth street to the embankment upon which the Milwaukee tracks are laid, with Captain Finn and Guard Smith in hot pursuit. Following the track to the west, he continued fully 150 yards before he dropped.

rific struggle in progress with the other prisoners. Guard Robinson had heroically fought his way to the gate with the butchprisoners. Guard Robinson had heroically fought his way to the gate with the butcherknife, while Superintendent Ben Warner had rushed down from his office on the second floor, and Clerk Sams added his strength to the combat. The prisoners were frenzied with the bope of freedom, and fought like flagds. Especially was this true in the case of Burke and Brady, the pais of Hughes. No other prisoner succeeded in getting over the gate, and they were all finally locked up in their cells. Burke and Brady are now in dungeors.

The officials of the workhouse have been expecting this break for several months, having observed threatening indications in the conduct of the prisoners.

There would be little trouble for desperate men to effect an escape under the present conditions, as in passing to and from the dining room nothing but this eight foot gate separates them from freedom. It is but a frail structure at most, made of half-inch iron, and looks like a wire netting more than anything else, Half a dozen men could easily force it by putting their shoulders to it. It is about the only weak spot in the institution, and the attention of the superintendent of buildings was called to it several months ago by Fen Warner, superintendent of the workhouse.

Charles Hughes, the man who was shot, together with John Brady and Tim Burke, was sentenced to twelve months in the workhouse six weeks ago on a charge of vagrancy. When arrested a valise containing three large caliber revolvers was found in their room. The police say that tney have been implicated in several train robberies, and that they are very desperate men.

Hughes was removed to the city hospital, where it was found that the wound inflicted was fatal. The bullet entered the breast about the tenth rib and came out in the small of the back close to the spinal

SALT LAKE, U., June 19.—A special to the Tribune from Park City, U., says: The entire business portion of Park City, houses on the upper end of the street houses on the upper end of the street, burned to the ground this morning. The fire started about 4 o'clock in the American hotel, and, being fanned by a south wind, swept the entire street. Park City's business portion is now a mass of ruins. The damage is probably close to $1.09.000. The fire was gotten under control at $7.30. At $6 o'clock it reached the lower end of Main street and was cut off from Kimball's barn and the Union Pacific depot by blowing up houses. At 10 a. m. the Crescent concentrator on the east and the south of the Union Pacific depot burned. Every drug store, butcher shop, hotel and all but three saloons burned to the ground. Both the Park opera house and the new A. O. U. W. building, with the new Grand opera house, were entirely destroyed.

The Marasac mill was only saved by hard work. The city hail, both bank buildings, postoffice and telephone exchange are gone. Many people are left homeless, having but their clothes. The wind carried the flames in sheets, until the whole center of Park City is gutted.

The situation is now (6 p. m.) that the whole city, from the American house, where the fire started, to the Union Pacific depot (which was saved), is burned on both sides of the street. The whole is a blackened, smoking ruin with the fire stayed. burned to the ground this morning.

GEORGE CAMPBELL DROWNED. Founder of the Famous Diving Bell Loses His Life While Working in It.

WILWAUKEE, WIS., June 19.-Word was received here to-day of the drowning of George Campbell and Peter Oisen, at Thunder bay, while engaged at work in a diving bell recovering the cargo of the sunken steamer Pewabic, which was lost about a year ago. Campbell was the founder of the famous bell and a son of Gardiner Campbell, founder of the Centennial bell.

The bell was sent down from the steamer Root Saturday morning. Campbell telephoned to the steamer that they were in the break in the Pewablc's hull and asked for hooks. The telephone worked well and the men could be heard moving about the bell. Suddenly all sounds ceased. There was no response to the telephone and when the bell was raised it was found that both men had been drowned as they were working, by water which burst through one of the glass windows. Four divers have lost their lives in efforts to secure the valuable cargo of the Pewablc. William H ke, of Buffalo, and Oliver Potkey, of Ashland, were the other victims. famous bell and a son of Gardiner Camp

"No," said the amiable young lady, "I am only an American girl. I sometimes wish I were an English girl."

"Don't you ever wish it, my dear," said the ambassador; "you don't know how well off you are. You can go where you please without parents being obliged to go, too. The house you visit is a protection in itself. You don't have to drag the old people about, and, oh! what a relief it is to the people." said the ambassador to some other listeners.

"My daughters are out late every night now, while the gay season is on. The other night, when we had our ballpoudre, the young people kept up until 5 o'clock in the morning, and I was getting so tired that I asked the band to play 'Home, Sweet Home,' but they played it to a waitz and all began to waitz instead of taking the hint, as I had hoped they would, so that it was fully half an hour before they seemed to understand that it was time to go home."

For example, said Lord Tennyson: "Mr. Gladstone knows little about either china or horses. To a collector of china he appears to have the most remarkable knowledge of equine affairs. To china maniacs, however well versed in the history of pottery, of all ages, he seems to be a Homeric scholar beyond compare. MAY HAVE A STRAIGHT TICKET. Old Line Democrats Considering the Matter of Putting One in the Field by Petition. *TOPEKA, June 19.—(Special.) The old-line Democrats of Kansas, regardless of their views on the money question, are now considering the proposition of putting out a straight Democratic state ticket. Under the new election law they can do it by petition. It will take 2,500 voters' signatures to do it, and those behind the plan say to do it, and those behind the plan say that four times that number can be obtained without any difficulty. There is a large number in the Democratic party that have become tired of the eternal dickering with the Pops. They are especially displeased with the action of the Atchison convention in nominating the straight Pop ticket. Just who the nominees will be has not been decided upon yet.

The first thing is to settle the question of the feasibility of naming a ticket. Then the nominee matter will be settled later. They expect some trouble with the Pop state administration when it comes to certifying the ticket up for a place on the official ballot. The machinery is all against them They declare, however, that if they go into it that the petition will be so strong that the Pops will dare not turn it down. There will be a conference held in a short time to discuss the matter. In case a ticket the strength of the population of the conference held in a short time to discuss the matter. Then David Overmyer Will Be Nominated for Lieutenant Governor by the Fusionists.

TOPEKA, June 19 .- (Special.) It is genrally understood in political circles here that the surrendocrats will yet get a place on the state ticket. From a reliable source it is learned that the nomination of A. M. Harvey by the surrendocrats at Atchison first step in a conspiracy to make David Overmyer the nominee for lieu:enant governor. The plan is for Harvey, who is governor. The plan is for Harvey, who is now serving his country in the war at $3,000 per year, to decline the nomination in due time; the surrendocratic state committee will then be permitted to name the man and Overmyer, after a large amount of mouthwork, will finally, "under project," accept the place. It is a great scheme, but the people in advance will know all about it. It was the original intention to keep the matter a profound secret, but one of the leading guys in the surrendocratic var y became so good natured after wire sing became so good natured after wire sing the prize fight and filling up on Atchison rye that he gave the snap away.

By caring for her belongings she can afford to be generous; she can induige in many a pleasant lecture, in hearing the best music, and keep in touch with all that teleptocesting. the Cynthia comes in after having been When Cynthia comes in after having been out on business, or in shopping or visiting, she does not, in her eagerness to rest, throw her bodice on one chair, her skirt on another, her coat and hat on the bed, while her gloves and veil are carelessly tossed in the nearest bureau drawer. Oh, no, that is not Cynthin's way. She gives a look at her skirt to see if it needs a brushing; turns her bodice inside out and hangs it on a frame until it has had time to become thoroughly aired. Her shoes are taken off, her slippers assumed, and then skirt, coat and whatever needs to be brushed is carried to the room where such work is done.

APPLAUDS THE PRESIDENT.

ondon Standard Says McKinley Has Shown Himself a Wise and Strong Ruler. LONDON, June 20 .- The Standard, applauding editorially this morning "Presi-dent McKinley's wisdom in postponing a serious invasion of Cuba until after the rainy season." says: "The president shows himself, as he has done throughout the whote business, a wise and strong ruer. Undoubself the American navy was ready for war. Scarcely in any past conflict has any mation asserted at once against its opponent such a complete mastery on the sen. The reason the operations hang fire is the unreadiness for what is to be done on land. America has spiendid material for a line army, but time is required to organize it. Therefore we congratulate the United States on the possession of rulers strong enough to turn a deef ear to the wild impatience of the jingoes." "The president shows himself, as he has women all over this land who are beautiful, who are witty, who are attractive, who are endowed with every charm but one, and that is the charm that robust health alone can give. A woman may possess every charm and grace that nature and education can bestow, but if she suffers from neglected weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism, she cannot by any possibility disguise it. It will take the glow of health from her check, the flash of wit from her eye, the charm of amiability glow or health from her cheek, the flash of wit from her eye, the charm of amiability from her manner and the grace and spring of health from her carriage. No woman need suffer in this way. Dr. Pierce's Fa-vorite Prescription acts directly and only on the delicate and important organs concerned and makes them strong, healthy and vigor-ous. It allays inflammation, healthy allows. and makes them strong, healthy and vigorous. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and gives rest to the tortured nerves. It banishes all debilitating drains. It is the best tonic for nursing
